PROFILE

Bilingual professional (French and English) with a strong affinity for mathematics, logic, and computing. I enjoy understanding how things work and finding clear solutions — whether with office tools, hardware, or digital platforms.

I have hands-on experience in customer service (grocery), administrative support (family business), and digital self-employment — streaming, moderation, and community management.

I am now looking for a stable role where I can apply my service mindset, attention to detail, and technical curiosity — with the energy and discipline you build through performance and teamwork.
